Gainesville Jewish Film Festival Sneak Preview, Nov 15

The Gainesville Jewish Film Festival, a partnership between the University of Florida Center for Jewish Studies and the Jewish Council of North Central Florida will host a special rough-cut screening of COJOT, a feature-length documentary that follows the life of Nazi hunter, Entebbe hostage, and Klaus Barbie trial witness, Michel Cojot-Goldberg. Audiences will have a rare opportunity to provide input on a work-in-progress. The screening will take place at 7 pm on Thursday, November 15 at the Hippodrome Cinema.

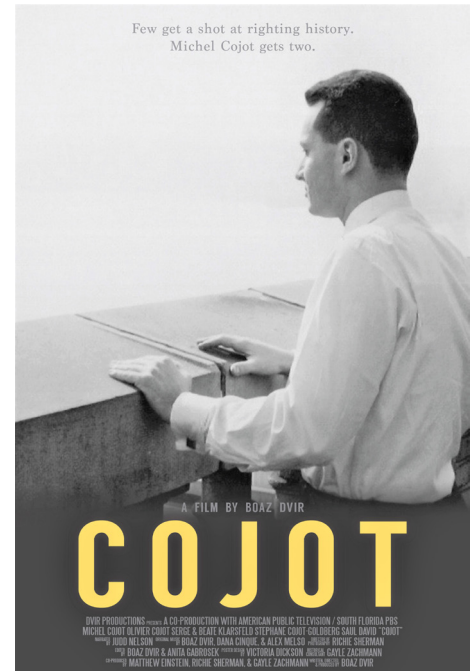

Developed from a project at the UF Paris Research Center, and shot in numerous locations in France, the UK, Israel and the US, COJOT is composed from hundreds of hours of footage, archival documents, and animation. The film includes interviews with Cojot family members, international Nazi hunters Beate and Serge Klarsfeld, and Operation Entebbe lead pilot Joshua Shani.

COJOT is written, directed and produced by UF alum, journalist, and filmmaker Boaz Dvir (Jessie's Dad, A Wing and a Prayer). Dvir is faculty in the Department of Journalism at Penn State University. The film is narrated by actor Judd Nelson (The Breakfast Club, St. Elmo's Fire). UF's Dr. Gayle Zachmann serves as the feature-length documentary's historical consultant and producer. CLAS International Educator of the year (2016) and University Term Professor (2018-2021), she is Associate Professor in the Department of Languages, Literatures, and Cultures and the Center for Jewish Studies at the University of Florida.

In recent months, Dvir and Zachmann have screened the rough-cut to more than 1,300 people around the country. UF Center for Jewish Studies Director, Jack Kugelmass notes "I have seen this film emerge in its various stages and I am truly impressed by how it's come together into a powerful and coherent whole." The project "has been an excellent one for the Center and UF. [...] It presents a new and exciting way for academics to present their work to the larger community."

This special fall sneak preview will also include trailers for the Ninth Annual Gainesville Jewish Film Festival, which will run from Sunday, March 17 through the 30th. Admission is $10. Students are admitted free with valid ID. Tickets may be reserved at www.jcncf.org/events.html. For more information about the screening or for assistance with reserving and purchasing tickets, please contact the Jewish Council office at 352.371.3846.

This event is hosted by the Gainesville Jewish Film Festival and co-sponsored by the UF Center for Jewish Studies, the Jewish Council of North Central Florida, The Harry Rich Foundation for Holocaust Studies, and Hadassah of Gainesville.

JCNCF CEO Selected for Prestigious JTS Leadership Training Institute

JCNCF's President and CEO, Virginia Brissette Hirshik, has been chosen to participate in the inaugural cohort of the Jewish Experiential Leadership Institute – Southeast (JELI) sponsored by The Leadership Commons of The William Davidson Graduate School of Jewish Education at the Jewish Theological Seminary (JTS). The cohort includes 20 fellows and 5 mentors who live and work in over 12 different communities across 7 states in the southeast region. They represent 11 different types of Jewish organizations, including Jewish Federation, JCC, Hillel, Jewish family services, BBYO, JNF, day schools, synagogues, Moishe House, and more. JELI-Southeast trains Jewish professionals for leadership by focusing on four key pillars: leadership principles, Jewish learning, community building, and personal growth.

JELI-Southeast is an outgrowth of the initial JELI program which was conducted in partnership with JCC Association to train middle and senior managers in JCCs throughout North America to lead through an educational and Jewish lens. The success of the first two JELI cohorts led the Leadership Commons to explore ways to reach even more Jewish professionals and communal leaders. As a result of this exploration, JELI-Southeast was launched to reach communities which have opportunities and challenges in common. This initiative is designed to strengthen Virginia's leadership skills, JCNCF's role within the community, Gainesville's Jewish life, and the Jewish community throughout the entire Southeast.

The Leadership Commons was able to launch JELI-Southeast with generous support from the Jim Joseph Foundation, The Leon Levine Foundation, the William Davidson Foundation, the Amy Mandel / Katina Rodis Fund, and Birmingham Jewish Foundation.

The inaugural cohort will convene for its first intensive four-day retreat in Charlotte, NC in November 2018. Under the program direction of Debbie Joseph, from Gainesville, Florida, the cohort will continue learning through monthly online sessions, two additional four-day retreats, one-on-one mentoring, and project work over the next 18 months.

In addition to building on the original JELI curriculum, this cohort will study and experience the history and culture of the southeast in order to more effectively lead their communities and collaborate to strengthen Jewish life in this region as a whole.

Helping The Worlds Neediest Jews Through the JDC

Without our help, tens of thousands of elderly Jews living on pensions as low as $2 a day would go to bed hungry every night, homebound in dilapidated apartments. And Jewish families trapped in a cycle of poverty would be unable to make ends meet and imagine a better future for their children. We bring life-saving relief to the poorest Jews in corners of the world where nearly no other social services exist.

Caring for the Elderly

CHALLENGE Elderly Jews in the former Soviet Union are the poorest Jews in the world, and tens of thousands of them languish and require extensive care and assistance to purchase food, medicine, utilities like heat and electricity, and other basic necessities.

INNOVATION JDC's network of Hesed social welfare centers provides vital, life-saving services to the most vulnerable and brings together isolated seniors for critical social interaction that reminds them they're not alone. Homecare workers—often the only human contact homebound elderly have—help with bathing, cooking, cleaning, and other daily tasks to ensure these elderly Jews can live with dignity.

IN CENTRAL AND EASTERN EUROPE AND THE FORMER SOVIET UNION (FSU):

1 in 2

Jewish elderly in the FSU

120,000+

vulnerable elderly receive vital humanitarian services

21,000+

at-risk children and families
assisted by JDC

The Poorest Families

CHALLENGE In many of the former Soviet republics, Jewish children in desperate poverty live with severe physical, psychological, and intellectual disabilities.

INNOVATION JDC provides care to the neediest children and families, assisting with food, medical treatment, school supplies, and more, while engaging them with cultural activities and Jewish holiday celebrations that reinforce their belonging to a caring Jewish community.

Medical Care

CHALLENGE The most vulnerable Jews are often forced to choose between putting food on their families' tables and paying for the medical care they require. It's an impossible choice, and healthcare needs often suffer.

INNOVATION JDC provides free medical consultation, subsidized medication, and loans of needed medical equipment to the poorest Jews across Europe and the FSU. In communities like Morocco and India, JDC funds old-age homes designed to provide compassionate, dignified, high-quality care for isolated and impoverished elderly who might otherwise be completely alone.

On Thursday, October 11, the Gainesville Jewish Community welcomed Dr. Will Recant, Assistant Executive Vice-President of the American Jewish Joint Distribution Committee-International Development Program. Dr. Recant spoke compellingly about the mission of the JDC and the importance of support from communities like ours.

PROGRAM SPOTLIGHT

Winter Relief

Preparing the most vulnerable Jews for winter is one of JDC's signature humanitarian aid programs. Warm blankets, jackets, boots, wood, coal, electric heaters, and utility subsidies help direly poor Jews from the Baltics to Hungary, Kazakhstan to Siberia, survive sub-zero temperatures in some of the most brutal winters on Earth.

Israel In Brief: News and Updates

By Ralph Lowenstein

Former UF Student, a 'Former' Supporter of BDS, Makes Headlines Around the World

Lara Alqasem, a recent University of Florida student and a leader in Students for Justice in Palestine, has been released from Ben Gurion Airport and allowed by the Israeli Supreme Court to enroll in studies at the Hebrew University law school. It was a win-win for both sides. Alqasem, who has a Palestinian father, has promised that she would not engage in BDS activities (the Boycott of Israeli products, Divestment in Israeli stocks, and Sanctions against Israeli citizens and companies) while in Israel, and Israel's Supreme Court did not rule illegal the Knesset law that bars from Israel non-Israelis who support BDS.

Headlines in some US newspapers said "UF Student Still Held by Israelis." Alqasem was not technically "held." She was never allowed to enter the country officially, and Israeli authorities would have been happy to pay for her return ticket to the United States at any time, should she have been willing to go.

A number of UF professors wrote letters to the Gainesville Sun supporting her entry. Also supporting her entry -- while noting their opposition to BDS -- were the Anti-Defamation League, the Reform movement, the liberal pro-Israel lobby J Street and the Association for Israel Studies. Needless to say, Alqasem's activities will be under sharp scrutiny during her sojourn in Israel working on her master's degree. (JTA)

Australia Considers Recognizing Jerusalem as Capital of Israel

Australia's Prime Minister Scott Morrison said he is considering officially recognizing Jerusalem as the capital of Israel, and moving the Australian embassy there. If this occurs, it will be the first major-country embassy moved there since President Trump moved the US Embassy to Jerusalem in May of this year.

Morrison said moving the embassy might advance the two-state-solution path, since "the other one has not been working that well."

More Women Receiving Rank In Israeli Defense Forces

A record number of women are reaching senior ranks in the Israel Defense Forces. There are currently 7 women serving at the rank of brigadier general, the third-highest rank in the Israeli military -- up from 3 in 2013.

There are 36 female colonels and some 326 with the rank of lieutenant-colonel. Some 90% of all positions in the armed forces are now open to women. The 10% remaining are mostly combat position in elite units.

Gaza Missile Destroys Home in Beersheba

The Gaza civilian attacks on defense fences along the border with Israel continue almost daily, making few headlines now even in Israeli newspapers. More unusual are rocket attacks aimed at Israeli cities many miles from the border, since these are likely to receive heavy retaliation from Israeli aircraft.

When an alarm goes off in an Israeli town or city, inhabitants have 15 seconds to get to a "safe room," which is required to be built in every home, wherever located. Recently, the alarm sounded in Beersheba, almost as far from Gaza as Ocala from Gainesville. The alarm sounded at 3:39 a.m. in the morning on October 15, and a single mother had 15 seconds to wake three young children and rush with them to the home's safe room. A missile from Gaza hit their home seconds after the mother closed the door. The two-story home was completely destroyed, except for the safe room. The family avoided injury.

Israel bombed Hamas targets in Gaza in retaliation. (JTA)

What's New at the B'nai Israel Community Day School

By Debby Kinman-Ford, Director
B'nai Israel Community Day School

As the B'nai Israel Community Day School kicks off the 2018/19 school year, we have added several new pieces to the school curriculum and, as always, continue to look forward to new initiatives. This school year we have added new staff as we offer weekly classes in dance, music and storytelling. These classes are available at no additional cost to families and all children ages 1- kindergarten are participating. On a sad note, over the summer, two of our school chickens passed away and we are currently looking for two new chickens, as well as, planning out the installation of a fish pond.

This summer, we became a PJ Library Goes to School partner. We are now receiving Jewish books curriculum and resources from PJ Library National. So many of our families are PJ Library participants, we were very excited to get to jump on board and be part of this wonderful school program.

With the increased attendance we have had in family programming in the last two years, we revamped our programming at the end of last year. We are excited to put our new plans into action and kicked off with Sukkah City beginning of October with 200 participants and it went off without a hitch! We are now in the middle of planning our fall festival scheduled for November and our Thanksgiving program. Please follow us on Facebook for pictures from these fun events. Thank you for all our community support, we are excited to offer such vibrant Jewish programming to our community!

Cong. B'nai Israel Launches A Year of Kindness and Compassion

By Jenifer Petrescu, Executive Director Congregation B'nai Israel

As we looked to the beginning of another year, the Jewish year of 5779, we knew that this year had to be different. We live in a world fraught with the inability of public discourse with our fellow man and the many issues that surround our community, our state, and our nation. At the core of these issues, B'nai Israel knew that we needed to be a change agent, an example, that sought to bring forth the very best of ourselves---our kindness and compassion towards each other and the issues that we see in our community every day. A Year of Kindness and Compassion was the result of our planning—a program that will seek to get the entire community involved in programs that touch the very nerve of issues that need our attention. Some of those programs will be based on our need for Social Action and Social Justice. Others will be a forum to encourage dialogue that will present many opinions in an open way, encouraging civil discourse in a productive manner.

Examples of our programs include: collecting needed items for various community organizations, serving meals at St. Francis House or Grace Marketplace, volunteering with Food4Kids to load vehicles or pack backpacks to ensure students have meals over the weekend, working with Homeless Veterans to provide supplies as veterans transition to permanent housing, our day school providing educational parenting programs to local organizations focused on rehabilitation of families, working with Partnership for Strong Families to provide needed school supplies and making holiday wishes come true for children in state and foster care, and bringing celebration of traditional Jewish holidays to community organizations to increase knowledge and tolerance of a culture unknown to some. For more information about our year of Kindness and Compassion and the activities you can become involved in, please visit: www.bnaigainesville.com/a-year-of-kindness/ to see how you can help!

Transitions: Community Life Events

Do you have a life cycle event you would like to share with our JCNCF community? Please submit items to chronicle@jcncf.org. Submissions may be edited as space allows. Pictures are welcome and encouraged! Transitions may include birth, engagement and wedding announcements, bar and bat mitzvah, graduations, promotions and honors, and memorials.
